

Privacy Policy

Fulton Hogan Group Policy June 2026

Respect personal information

As we conduct our business, we are often provided with individuals' personal information. These people may be employees, customers, suppliers, partners, or members of the communities in which we work and live. They have every right to expect that we use this information only for its intended purpose and that we keep it secure.

We will:

- Be transparent about the information we collect and how we use it
- Only use personal information where necessary
- Have appropriate precautions and controls in place to keep personal information secure
- Only disclose personal information when we are legally required or when it is necessary for the fulfilment of our contractual obligations and the execution of our services
- Provide individuals with access to their personal information
- Respond to queries regarding the storage and use of personal information
- Comply with relevant standards and legislation

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Graeme Johnson', with a long horizontal stroke extending to the right.

Graeme Johnson
Group CEO